HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM OVER THE LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the twelve-months ended May 31, 2025, relative performance for the Jensen Global Quality Growth Fund was aided by overweight positions in the Consumer Discretionary and Information Technology sectors and underweights in the Energy, Materials, and Real Estate sectors. Stock selection benefited relative Fund performance in the Consumer Discretionary, Information Technology, and Financials sectors. Relative performance was hindered by the Fund’s overweight position in the Consumer Staples and Industrials sectors and underweight positions in the Financials, Communications Services, Utilities, and Healthcare sectors. Stock selection detracted from relative performance in the Communication Services, Consumer Staples, Industrials, Health Care, and Materials sectors.

During the year, the strategy continued its high allocation to quality companies, as defined by the S&P Earnings and Dividend Quality Rankings. The Fund’s allocation to the highest-quality companies — those rated A+, A and A- — averaged 52.87% of portfolio assets compared to 31.79% of the ACWI Net Total Return Index. This significant overweight to quality detracted from the Fund’s relative returns during the year, which we believe were driven by increased investor appetite for risk despite increased geopolitical and trade policy uncertainty.
